6IXBITS

a bit about us

6ixBits is hosted by the Toronto Youth Network which is a student-led organization in the Greater Toronto Area dedicated to growing students' connections and allowing for networking with one another through numerous events held throughout the year.

Our mission is to provide students with an atmosphere that facilitates learning, growth, as well as meeting amazing people during the process. We believe that students networking together have a profound effect on the community, which is why we have invited students from around the GTA to participate in our events.

We have also partnered with various other non-profit organizations to facilitate learning and growth among peers better. We believe the synergy created by bringing people together will carry on the legacy of the Toronto Youth Network.

Sponsoring 6ixBits is a great way to connect your brand to top students across Toronto and the GTA. As opposed to traditional hackathons (geared towards experienced-coders), 6ixBits was designed to accommodate beginners as well, to facilitate growth in all participants.

Not only through our hackathons and our secondary events, but the Toronto Youth Network itself functions as a segue between academia and the working world by connecting students with both human resources and coding skills. This is in addition to being student-run, which potentially makes our events more approachable for beginners than traditional hackathons.

We ultimately envision 6ixBits and our future endeavours to reward a process-based learning instead of being result-oriented.

Please find below the different sponsorship tiers, which details how you can be a part of 6ixBits. We are commited to working with each and every sponsor, in order to make the event a worthwhile experience for both your brand and our delegates. If you have any further questions, please feel free to reply to this email. We are absolutely ecstatic about 6ixBits and we can't wait for you to be a part of it.
